

You must make a decision which will alter the course of humanity, and you must make it IMMEDIATELY or life on earth as we know it will forever be altered.

"DO YOU SUPPORT THE OIL CORPORATION, SHELL DRILLING FOR OIL IN THE ARCTIC?"

I, personally, do not and I hope you take the time to find out why.

- * First, I would like to have children without feeling guilty for birthing them into a world which is falling apart.
- * Second, I believe it is my duty to protect this earth we call home.
- * Third, we have other options.

I believe we share a responsibility to protect our home.

The Polar Pioneer and Noble Discoverer are the two oil rigs that form Royal Dutch Shell Oil's chosen crew for the murder of our present and future. This is a direct continuation of Manifest Destiny. The intended arctic drilling operation of Shell would lead to global climate changes favorable to a new form of extreme gentrification.

FACTS

- ♦ The local wildlife are very vulnerable to oil. Many bird species migrate to the Arctic in summer, as well as whales and seals.
- ♦ Oil recovery is near impossible in ice. According to a senior official at a Canadian firm specializing in oil spill response, "there is really no solution or method today that we're aware of that can actually recover [spilt] oil from the Arctic."
- ♦ The US Geological Survey estimates the Arctic would only satisfy three years of the world's oil demand. These giant, rusting rigs with their inadequate oil spill response plans are risking the future of the Arctic for three years worth of oil.
- ♦ Drilling in the arctic circle will push the global warming rate past the 2 degrees rate, precipitating a range of 40 degree temperature changes globally. Seattle would become a refuge as it's climate would be akin to Southern California.

Right NOW in the Port of Seattle, OCCUPIED DUWAMISH AND SUQUAMISH TERRITORY our very own backyard, sit these machines poised to sail north at the end of June. The politicians and the CEO's are all arguing over the last bits of you and your children's future. The rich will use their monopoly on "energy resources" to maintain artificial climates where they can survive in the hell created by Shell while those left outside of the first world borders are left to suffer from their pillage of the planet.
